

Yeatts Inc. understands the importance of water.

Water is the most necessary commodity on this Earth. Groundwater is limited as once water tables, aquifers, or springs are depleted or destroyed, then another source of obtaining water must be found. Population expansion which requires food and water causes additional problems. Since humans must have food and water in order to live, water must be taken from the ground to provide crops and drinking water for humans and livestock. Add in droughts and modernization or urban development upon water rich land, and the means for preserving water becomes more complicated. All industries in all countries use water in order to prosper. Yeatts Inc. has always been aware of the value of water. In the fabric cleaning industry water must be used to make cleaning solutions and as the final rinsing agent to flush out the debris and cleaning solutions in fabrics. Many of our competitors have absolutely no regard for water preservation, and use over a thousand gallons of water each day. Also they clean no more or less amount of fabrics per day as the industry leader, Yeatts Inc. Our superior cleaning process produces better results without wasting water. Also unlike our competitors, our customers' orders are processed individually. Would you wish for your rugs to be combined with another order of rugs containing feces, urine, or soot? The answer of course is no. In regards to cleaning rugs, the most important step in delivering superior results is the dusting and vacuuming of rugs anyway. Very few companies actually dust and vacuum rugs and simply jump right into the cleaning and rinsing process. When it comes to water preservation, Yeatts Inc. again leads the industry.

Attention allergy and asthma sufferers!

Cleaning solutions used by Yeatts Inc. are environmentally safe. Our relationship with MasterBlend® has yielded superior cleaning results without leaving harsh residues in fabrics. There is no need to use excessive cleaning solutions on natural fibers and, in most cases, synthetic fibers. Medical professionals specializing in the treatment of allergies and asthma recognize our company as the destination for all their clients. Only Yeatts Inc. makes this list via use of MasterBlend® Responsible Care™ Products. These odorless, non-toxic, plant based cleaning solutions denature the structure of allergens, making them unrecognizable to the body's immune system. If you or a family member has allergies or asthma, then you should contact Yeatts Inc.
